

Elgin Knows Buildings

Extensive Experience

Elgin Hakala brings extensive hands-on construction experience to his work as a Senior Consultant. From operating machinery and managing site operations to leading teams of subcontractors on full-spectrum home remodels, he approaches each project with precision, skill, and professionalism. His background spans carpentry, electrical, plumbing, concrete, insulation, ductwork, tile, and paint, all grounded in a strong understanding of engineering and architectural plans.

Trusted Reputation for Efficiency

Mr. Hakala is known for delivering effective, efficient solutions based on careful investigation, detailed analysis, and clear presentation. His practical, on-the-ground knowledge allows him to anticipate real-world construction challenges, which supports his ability to assess and communicate technical findings with accuracy and confidence. With strong communication skills and a proven ability to collaborate with project teams, clients, and stakeholders, Elgin consistently contributes to successful outcomes and is a trusted member of the Pete Fowler team.
