

Nancy Knows Architecture

Designing a Career

Nancy's career in the world of building design and drawings began as a teenager at her father's engineering firm, where she quickly outgrew her data entry assignments, and moved to the planning department. Savvy and determined, her enthusiasm for technical drawing and presentation design set her on a path to earn her degree from Berkley and begin her career in architecture and planning.

After working her way up as a drafter in commercial and retail settings, Nancy craved a challenge. Her analytical ability led her to pursue her Juris Doctor and Mediator Credential.

A Unique Skill Set

Nancy entered the construction defect industry at the ground level and has over 20 years of experience working in the construction consulting environment. From her pragmatic focus on resolving projects emerged her true advantage: the ability to transform technical data into practical solutions. As a technical and a legal expert, she has cultivated a valuable skill set that helps clients win tough cases and mitigate future losses.

Perfectly Paired at Pete Fowler Construction

As an Architect at Pete Fowler Construction Services, Nancy evaluates buildings and conducts detailed analysis for public and private owners, design professionals, contractors, and attorneys. Her experience spans construction defect claims, public works, personal injury cases, contracts and construction projects for single-family residences, multi-family projects, mixed use developments, commercial, institutional, industrial, low-rise, mid-rise and high-rise construction.
