Bringing Precision to Restoration and Cost Analysis

Dante Crivello is a dedicated Technical Consultant at Pete Fowler Construction, bringing extensive expertise in restoration, cost estimating, and project management. With years of experience in estimating structural damage for residential and commercial properties, Dante has developed a keen ability to assess damage, analyze repair scopes, and ensure that projects are completed efficiently and within budget. His background in estimating, insurance repairs, and general home construction allows him to provide accurate evaluations that drive successful project outcomes.

Expertise in Estimating & Reconstruction Management

Dante's career has been shaped by hands-on experience in estimating and reconstruction management. As a lead estimator and branch manager, he has overseen damage repairs, managed project budgets, and guided teams through complex restoration processes. His deep understanding of cost analysis and bidding strategies has enabled him to develop advanced budgeting techniques that improve purchasing control and supervisor accountability. From water damage mitigation to fire and explosion restoration, Dante's technical expertise ensures that clients receive precise assessments and repair solutions.

Leadership in Project Execution

Beyond his technical knowledge, Dante is known for his leadership and ability to streamline project execution. He has successfully led teams of superintendents, estimators, and field staff, ensuring seamless coordination between stakeholders. His commitment to integrity, dependability, and customer service makes him a trusted resource in construction consulting. Whether managing a project from inception to completion or providing expert insight into insurance claims, Dante's skill sets make him an invaluable asset in delivering high-quality solutions.
